

The A-List of Travel®
LUXURY TRAVEL
MAGAZINE

The Residences at Rancho La Puerta, the world's first wellness residence club of its kind

• June 24, 2021

The Residences at Rancho La Puerta, the original destination wellness resort and spa in North America, has expanded its partnership with Elite Alliance®, a luxury hospitality management, vacation rental, and home exchange company, to create a new Residence Club, the world's first wellness residence club of its kind. Homeowners now have two options to be a part of The Residences with full and flexible ownership opportunities.

Located in four areas of The Residence community, the homes that are part of the new Residence Club will come elegantly furnished and will be owned by eight like-minded families. As a Club owner, homeowners have access to a host of amenities, services and Ranch privileges including the option to host friends and family members, have guests stay in their home when they are not on property as well as rent their residence. The Residence Club ownership also provides homeowners the opportunity to explore more than 120 other destinations, as each owner automatically becomes a member of the prestigious Elite Alliance exchange program.

The Residences have been designed by Mexico based developer Grupo Espiritu, whose mission is to integrate the highest quality, experiences and values in everything that they build. The homes within the Residence Club will be priced from $179,000 to $439,000 and feature three different housing options including Casitas – two-bedroom floor plan with two and a half baths at 2,003 square feet, Casas – three-bedroom floor plan with three and a half baths at 3,113 square feet, and Villas – four-bedroom floor plan with four and a half baths at 5,181 square feet. Expect a tranquil, wellness-focused enclave with incredible features and amenities, including frequent access to Rancho La Puerta.

For more information on The Residences at Rancho La Puerta, please visit residenceclub.rancholapuerta.com or call 888.608.0059 or email residenceclub@rancholapuerta.com.